BELGIAN RELIEF FUND

Prof. Eastman is an entertaining speaker and is especially well informed on this interesting subject. The views of Belgium before the war are also very interesting.

Admission: Adults 50c, Children 25c

All proceeds outside of actual expenses will be donated to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Tax on Letters and Postcards

A war tax of one cent has been imposed on each letter and postcard mailed in Canada for delivery in Canada, the United States or Mexico and on each letter mailed in Canada for delivery in the United Kingdom and British Possessions generally, and wherever the two cent rate applies, to become effective on and from the 15th April, 1915.

This War Tax is to be prepaid by the senders by means of a War Stamp for sale by Postmasters and other postage stamp vendors.

Wherever possible, stamps on which the word "War Tax" have been printed should be used for prepayment of the War Tax, but should ordinary postage stamps be used for this purpose they will be accepted.

This war stamp or additional stamp for war purposes should be affixed to the upper right hand portion of the address side of the envelope or postcard, close to the regular postage so that it may be readily cancelled at the same time as the postage.

In the event of failure on the part of the sender through oversight or negligence to prepay the war tax on each letter or postcard above specified, such a letter or postcard will be sent immediately to the nearest Branch Dead Letter Office.

It is essential that postage on all classes of mail matter should be prepaid by means of ordinary postage stamps. The war tax stamp will not be accepted in any case for the prepayment of postage.

Baseball Meeting

Soft winds and sunny skies, harbingers of summer weather, has set the pulses of the baseball fans stirring and the first meeting was held on Friday evening last to organize. There was a good attendance of the devotees of the great national game present and much enthusiasm for a good season of baseball was in the air. The officers elected for this season were as follows:

Hon. President—J. E. Stauffer, M. L. A.

Hon. Vice-Pres.—C. L. Peterson, Esq.

President—J. A. McGhee.

Vice President—Mayor Osmond.

Secretary—J. Pirie.

Directors—Dr. G. R. Ross, W. G. Liesemer, J. V. Berscht, Parker R. Reed, A. G. Studer and T. W. Cuncannon.

Grounds Committee—J. Silsbe, F. Rumball, R. Dowell, W. Scheidt, G. Wigglesworth.

J. Pirie, Manager.

A meeting of delegates from Crossfield, Carstairs, Didsbury, Olds, Bowden and Innisfail will be held in the Rosebud hotel on Thursday afternoon to complete arrangements to form a league of the towns named. It is hoped that a few towns from Red Deer north will also form a league and at the end of the season the winners of the two leagues play off for the championship for this section of Alberta.

Lecture on Belgium

An event of unusual interest at this time when new history is being made very fast is the arrangement made by Mrs. H. E. Osmond, Treasurer of the Belgian Relief Fund for a visit by Prof. Mack Eastman of Calgary University to give his well known lecture on Belgium before and during the war, illustrated with lantern slides, at the Didsbury Opera House on Friday evening, April 23rd.

Prof. Eastman, who is giving a large share of his time to the cause of Belgian relief without remuneration, is exceedingly well posted on his subject and the lecture is not only very instructive but entertaining as well. It is hoped that he will be greeted with a full house on his appearance here.

The proceeds of the lecture, after all unavoidable expenses have been paid, will be donated to the Belgian Relief Fund, a cause which needs the support of every person because of the immense amount of suffering and privation that the people of this stricken country is suffering today.

See advertisement on front page.

Notes on the War

The French carried about 1600 yards of trenches at Les Esparges on April 9th, one of the principle objectives of the French campaign of the last few days. The Germans had orders to hold this point at all costs and lost 100,000 men in the engagement.

The Kron Prinz Wilhelm arrived at Newport News, Va., on April 11th. This vessel has sunk 15 vessels during her eight months commerce raiding. It is supposed that she has had to come into port for repairs or provisions and may have to intern for the rest of the war like her sister ship the Prinz Eitel Friedrich.

The Russians still continue their drive in the Carpathians and now hold all the principal passes.

A big campaign has been started in England for Kitchener's new army. Another million men are wanted and the campaign is to be carried on by members of parliament and others for two weeks.

Italy still holds off from entering in to hostilities but the people are holding meetings to get the government to join the Allies.

Kitchener has now called for the Second Canadian contingent according to announcement of Premier Borden in the Ottawa house. Date of departure is set but cannot be made public.

The United States Belgian Relief ship, the Harpalyce, was torpedoed by the Germans in the North sea last week. Out of a crew of 42 men so far only 27 have been saved.

The drink question is causing a very big agitation in England although it is not known yet what steps will be taken to control the evil. The King and the cabinet and most of the people in high places have announced that they will do away with liquor in their homes.

No authentic news of operations in the Dardanelles has come through for some time. It is supposed that big operations and landing of forces is taking place there.

The Secretary-Treasurer of the local branch of the Patriotic Fund, H. E. Osmond, forwarded a cheque for $300 to provincial headquarters, Calgary, on Wednesday. It is hoped that the different committees throughout the district will still continue their good work and funds are still needed.

Tiring, Ceaseless Back-Ache Can Be Rubbed Away To-Night

Relief is Almost Unfailing from Even the First Application

RUB ON NERVILINE

Cold has a vicious way of finding out aching muscles or weak joints. How often pain settles in the back, causing inflammation and excruciating soreness. Stiffness and aching all over follows.

An application of Nerviline at the start gives immediate relief and prevents worse trouble.

When the pain is very acute, Nerviline has a chance to show its wonderful penetrating and pain-subduing power. It strikes in deeply, and its strike-in-deep quality quickly proves its superiority to feeble remedies. Then this goodness is magnified by its strength, easily five times greater than most liniments.

Surely so powerful and curative a liniment as Nerviline offers perfect security against pain.

Nerviline is the only guaranteed pain remedy sold in Canada. Forty years of success in many countries warrants its manufacturers saying, "If it does not relieve, get your money back."

No curable pain, not even neuralgia, lumbago, rheumatism, or rheumatism can resist the magic power of Nerviline. Try it today. Rub it on your tired back, let it ease your sore muscles, let it take the swelling and stiffness out of your joints. It's a marvel—thousands say so that use Nerviline.

The large 50c family size bottle of Nerviline is more economical than the 25c trial size. Buy the larger size today. Sold by dealers everywhere or the Catarrhzone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Good Roads

All-Important Factor in Enabling
Farmers to Reach Markets

The campaign for good roads being carried on throughout Canada is only part of the general awakening of the people to the causes which have led to the enormous increase in the prices of the necessities of life. That the transportation problem is all-important for the farmer-producer is without question. That he may at all seasons reach his markets at a minimum of time and expense is a necessary factor in the making of reasonable prices for his products. For the consumer, good roads have an advantage in the fact that by enabling the farmers to reach the markets in greater numbers, the supplies of produce will be larger, and competition will be keener. A further consequence of this larger attendance will be that more attention will be paid to the condition of the produce offered by those displaying it for sale.

In the present campaign for increased production, good roads will play an important part. Motor transportation is being rapidly developed and utilized by the farmers. By this means greater distances can be covered and farmers at a considerable distance from markets, with the advent of better roads, will be able to bring their produce to the consumer in larger quantities and at less expense.—Conservation.

Skin Trouble on the Scalp

Skin Dried and Cracked and Hair Fell
Out—Cured by Dr. Chase's Oint-

Eczema is annoying and distressing at any time, but doubly so when it gets into the scalp and causes the hair to fall out. Here is a grateful letter from a lady who was cured by using Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mrs. Hector Currie, Tobermory, Ont., writes: "I was cured of a disagreeable skin disease of the scalp by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. The trouble started with itching and pain in the scalp, the skin would get dry and crack, and at times would bleed, and the hair would fall out. I tried three doctors without benefit, and suffered for three years. Reading in the almanac about Dr. Chase's Ointment, I began its use, and am now completely cured. The hair has grown again, and I am as well as I ever was. You are at liberty to use this letter, for I am glad to recommend so excellent a treatment."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has no rival as a cure for itching skin disease.

One of the Slighter Accidents

There is a good story in the London Nation about one of the slighter accidents of the fleets. The other day the commander of a destroyer, rolling heavily in a gale, and with her engines disabled, tried to lessen the strain by lading out oil. The seaman engaged in this work was washed overboard, and washed back again by returning wave. He picked himself up, saluted his officer, and said: "Very sorry, sir; lost the bucket!"

The Mar. With Asthma almost longs for death to end his suffering. He sees ahead only years of endless torment with intervals of rest which are themselves fraught with ever ceasing fear of renewed attacks. Let him turn to Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy and know what complete relief it can give. Let him but use it faithfully, and he will find his asthma a thing of the past.

Bright—An apple a day will keep the doctor away, says this article.

Simple—One—Yes, and an onion a day will keep everybody away.

A Period of Rest

Pointers For Dairymen in Keeping
Record of Average Milk
Yield

In the fall of 1914 many dairy cows dried off somewhat earlier than usual on account of scarcity of feed. However long the period of rest may have been, six weeks or four months, cows will soon be ready for business as usual during 1915. Now the point arises, can the period of work be extended? That means careful preparation in a variety of ways.

One item may well be noted by the dairymen who has not yet endeavored to shorten that rest period. It does not follow that a cow giving 1,200 pounds of milk or so during her first month will give as much during the whole season as the cow that gives only 800 pounds the first month. The first one may be dry in a little over seven months and then settle down to extended repose, while the second cow will be producing for ten months, enabling her owner to take advantage of good prices in fall and winter. Obviously, therefore, correct judgment as to a cow's production is to be based on a knowledge of the total weight for the season, not for the best month or two only, for that period of rest is a very variable factor.

Keeping track of the weight given by each cow is simplified by using the forms supplied free by the government. Write to the Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa, for samples of the record forms of three days per month, and those for dairy weights. It will be still better to take samples as well as to learn by the test how much fat each cow gives.

A Venerable Horse

The oldest horse in the world is, probably, Captain, who belongs to a lively stable owner in Oconto, Wis. The little horse has given him service for more than twenty years, and he himself knows it to be several months past 38. The average life of a horse is about 14 years. Captain, little, sorrel Indian pony, is taking life easy now. He is comfortably stabled, carefully fed, coddled and petted. In the spring he will be given free run of a large pasture, where he can disport himself almost as freely as did his wild forebears. "I've sold him three times and given him away once," said the owner, "but I only can buy him now. He has been in more than 100 runaways, and I believe he'd run away right now if he was given a chance. He is perhaps the oldest horse in the world, and I'll keep him as long as he lives."

BABY'S OWN TABLETS A GREAT BLESSING

Mrs. Jas. E. Mallman, Gegoggin, N.S., writes: "I gave Baby's Own Tablets to my baby boy for constipation and teething trouble, and have found them a great blessing. I think the Tablets should be in every home where there are young children." The Tablets are an absolutely safe remedy for little ones, being backed by the guarantee of a government analyst to be free from opiates and narcotics. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Duke's Joke

The popularity of the Duke of Connaught in Canada at the present time is unbounded, and it is greatly due to the esteem in which he is held that recruiting has been so brisk among Canadians. The duke dearly loves a joke, and he is very smart at repartee. Some years ago he visited Ireland, and a gentleman named Henn insisted on being introduced to him, because, he said, his son had sat next to the Duke when they were up for their examinations for the army. Without a moment's hesitation the Duke replied: "I was, then, between two birds, for on my other side was a Mr. Peacock, and," he added, with a twinkle in his eye, "not one of us was plucked."—Pearson's Magazine.

Italy Contracted for Wheat

Amount is Ample to Last Until After the Next Harvest

Provisions made by the government to supply Italy with wheat, pending the next harvest, were defended by the minister of agriculture, Signor Calvasola, in a speech before the chamber of deputies. He declared special missions representing the military commissariat had made enormous purchases in the United States and Argentina, although the largest quantities had been bought in New York and Chicago. The total amount contracted for abroad, Signor Calvasola said, was 40,500,000 bushels, which will be divided between several of the largest cities as distributing stations. About one-third of the amount contracted for has arrived in Italy. The minister declared that, in view of the precautions taken by the government, a wheat famine would be impossible, because the supply provided for would be ample to last until after the Italian harvest.

Speakers at Farm Crops Show Urge
Farmers to Form Social Clubs

Making practical the industrial subjects taught in the schools in Minnesota is the object of the boys and girls clubs being organized under the direction of the extension division of the University, said Mrs. Margaret Baker at a meeting of the Farm Crops show in Crookston. Through these clubs they are interesting the young people of the rural communities in the farm, the garden and the kitchen.

Mrs. Baker said that 3,100 club boys had entered corn growing contests and that the value to the state from their efforts was estimated at a million dollars.

Mrs. W. N. Powell of Warren urged town and country people to get together in social intercourse through the organization of clubs. "There is no class of people more independent than the farmers of today," she said, "and consequently there is no longer any reason for depriving the country woman of social advantages."

F. E. Balmer of the University of Minnesota laid down the principles of alfalfa growing to the farmers of the Red River Valley. He told them not to wait until hot weather for the first planting, but to sow from the first to the fifteenth of May.

The Farm Crops show reached its climax with capacity crowds attending every meeting and hundreds were turned away from the meeting when Governor Hammond gave an address appealing to the people of the Northwest to be true to American ideals. Special trains brought delegations from towns all through the Red River Valley, taxing the city to the utmost.

Resources of Alberta
President H. M. Tory, of the University of Alberta, is authority for the statement that Alberta, if properly cultivated, could feed fifty million people. In the course of an address Dr. Tory claimed that Alberta was potentially richer than the German empire. He appealed for more home-makers and the most advanced scientific farming in order that this great potential wealth may be realized.

A New Invention

Mr. James E. Ross, uncle of Dr. G. R. Ross, has been visiting his nephew for a few days before taking a trip to British Columbia. Mr. Ross is a representative of the Reardon Rifle Sight Co. of Ottawa and has a unique device to fit the Ross Rifle for target practice without ammunition. The device consists of an hollow tube containing a pointed rod and a spring. The gun is held a few inches from a small cardboard target, 3 inches by 1 inch, when the trigger is pulled and the exact effect of proper or poor sighting can be seen by the perforation made by the rod. The apparatus is very simple and the holding and sighting of the rifle is the same as would be required at 200 up to 600 yards. The device has been approved by the department of militia and has been practically adopted at all mobilization centers. The tube will fit any Ross rifle. This would be a good safe practice instrument for Cadet corps for indoor work as it does away with ammunition.

Lines on Child's Death

Death of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wiedner, on Tuesday morning, March 23rd, at the age of one month, lacking a day. "She is gone but not forgotten"

An early summons Jesus sends
To call a child above;
Aid whispers o'er the weeping friends,
T'is all the fruit of love.

To save the darling child from woe,
And guard it from all harm,
From all the griefs you feel below,
I called it to my arms.

Ah, do not rashly with me strive,
Nor vainly fast or weep;
The child, though dead, is yet alive,
And only fallen asleep.

T'is on the Saviour's bosom laid,
And feels no sorrow there;
T'is by a heavenly parent fed,
And needs no more your care.

To you the child was lent,
While mortal it was thine;
But now, in robes immortal pent,
It lives forever thine.

Benefits by New Business Idea

In all lines of business old ideas are giving place to new, and modern efficiency is showing better ways of selling goods.

Almost everyone is familiar with the famous Nyal's Family Remedies and Toilet preparations and has been accustomed to seeing them in almost every drug store and almost every family medicine cupboard.

Very recently the Company have made a far reaching change in their plan of doing business. In the future Nyal preparations will only be obtainable through selected drug store agencies who are shareholders in the company.

It is a proven fact that agents, selected because of their ability and business standing and more intimately connected with the manufacturers are able to market goods more economically and at the same time give better service to the buying public. Much of the friction of competitive business methods is eliminated and the public benefits therefrom.

Mr. H. W. Chambers is to be congratulated on securing the Nyal Agency in our town and will in the future make these preparations a more prominent feature of his business.

A committee of men who made themselves responsible for a report published in the Calgary papers last week on the moral and drinking habits of soldiers and civilians in that city has raised considerable indignation, especially amongst the soldiers and their lady friends. This committee certainly overstepped the bounds of prudence when they published such a report, and sizing things up one way and another it would seem that they have done more injury than good to the cause of temperance by antagonizing these men and their many friends not only in the city of Calgary but in other towns as well. These men had no right to publicly brand the boys who are giving their all for the cause of liberty by publishing such a report even if they did put in a few clauses patting them on the back. The general public cannot separate the sheep from the goats, consequently the whole body of soldiers will be held responsible for the sins of a small percentage through this report. This town and district has some of its finest young men morally in the contingent at Calgary, and because of the action of a few wrong headed individuals these young men will feel ashamed to have any of their lady friends from the town and district visit them or be seen with them, and goodness knows there is little enough pleasure but lots of hard dangerous work in their efforts to preserve to us all that we value most highly.

THE increasing wealth of the Didsbury district through its mixed farming activities is fully demonstrated by the table given below of the shipments from Didsbury for the year ending March 1st, 1915, and the approximate value of said shipments. These statistics have been gathered from reliable sources but no doubt there are some individual shipments that have been missed which would increase the totals a little. When the high total for dairy products alone is considered no greater commentary is needed to show that this district is not only one of the best dairying districts in the province but it should be also understood that it is still more capable of a greater increase along this line. The live stock industry is also a big item, but because of the different weights and fluctuations in prices it is hard to estimate the value of this important branch of mixed farming but a rough estimate would place it at about $200,000. The hay shipments are also a very big item and would run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Grain shipments have declined somewhat from previous years but still brings in considerable revenue. When it is considered that for all this this produce ready cash was received some idea of the value of mixed farming to a district can be readily seen, and again emphasizes the fact that this district is ideal for mixed farming purposes.

The Mystery of the Ravenspurs

By Fred M. White

Ward, Lock & Co. Limited
London, Melbourne and Toronto

He felt his way rapidly, yet noiselessly, along the few feet between his resting place and Ravenspur's room. Imminent as the peril was, he yet paused to push his blanket out of sight. As he came to the door of Ravenspur's room the cry rose higher. He stooped and then his fingers touched something warm.

"Marion," he said, "I can catch the subtle fragrance of your hair."

The girl swallowed a scream. She was trembling from head to foot with fear and excitement. It was dark, the cry from within was despairing, the intense horror of it was dreadful. "Yes, yes," she whispered hoarsely. "I was lying awake and I heard it. And that good old man told me today that his time was coming. I—I was going to rouse the house. The door is locked."

"Do nothing of the sort. Stand aside."

The voice was low but commanding. Marion obeyed mechanically. With great strength and determination Ralph flung himself against the door. At the second assault the rusty iron bolt gave and the door flew open.

Inside, Ravenspur lay on his bed. By his bedside a nightlight cast a feeble pallid ray. There was nobody in the room besides Ravenspur himself. He lay back absolutely rigid, a yellow hue was over his face like a painted mask, his eyes were wide open, his lips twitched convulsively. Evidently he was in some kind of cataleptic fit and his senses had not deserted him.

He was powerless to move and made no attempt to do so. The man was choking to death and yet the limbs were rigid. A sickly sweet odor filled the room and caused Ralph to double up and gasp for breath. It was as if the whole atmosphere was drenched with a fine spray of chloroform. Marion stood in the doorway like a fascinated white statue of fear and despair.

"What is it?" she whispered. "What is that choking smell?"

Ralph made no reply; he was holding his breath hard. There was a queer grinning smile on his face as he turned towards the window.

The fumbling clutching long hands rested for a moment on Ravenspur's forehead, and the next moment there was a sound of smashing glass, as with his naked fists Ralph beat in the lozenge shaped windows.

A quick cool draught of air rushed through the room, and the figure on the bed ceased to struggle.

"Come in," said Ralph. "There is no danger now."

Marion entered. She was trembling from head to foot; her face was like death.

"What is it, what is it?" she cried. "Uncle Ralph, do you know what it is?"

"That is a mystery," Ralph replied. "There is some fiend at work here. I only guessed that the sickly odour was the cause of the mischief. You are better, sir?"

Ravenspur was sitting up in bed.

SEVERE ECZEMA SPREAD OVER FACE

Itched Badly. Became One Mass of Pimples. Awfully Disfigured. Could Not Sleep. Nearly Mad with Pain. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Skin Clear.

50 Monray St., Toronto, Ont.—"My trouble with eczema was very severe. It first appeared as a rash and itched so badly that I could not resist scratching. I scratched so much that the rash began to spread all over my face and became one mass of pimples. I was awfully disfigured for the time being; my face was in a bad condition. At night it used to itch and I could not get a proper night's sleep. It nearly drove me mad with pain.

"I was recommended to use — and I also tried — and I got no results at all. I said I would never try anything else until I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After I had finished with one cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment I could scarcely believe my own eyes. It certainly was marvelous what Cuticura Soap and Ointment did. After six weeks' time my skin was clear and smooth."

COCKSHUTT

SEE ONE AT THE DEALER'S

The color had come back to his lips; he no longer struggled to breathe.

"I am all right," he said. His eyes beamed affectionately on Marion. "Ever ready and ever quick, child, you saved my life from that nameless horror."

"It was Uncle Ralph," said Marion. "I heard your cry, but Uncle Ralph was here as soon as I was. And it was a happy idea of his to break the window."

"It was that overpowering drug," said Ravenspur. "What is it and where it came from must always remain a mystery. This is a new horror to haunt me—and yet there were others who died in their beds mysteriously. I awoke to find myself choking; I was stifled by that sweet-smelling stuff; I could feel that my heart was growing weaker. But go, my child; you will catch your death of cold. Go to bed."

With an unsteady smile Marion disappeared. As she closed the door behind her, Ravenspur turned and grasped his son's wrist fiercely.

"Do you know anything of this?" he demanded. "You are blind, helpless; yet you were on the spot instantly. Do you know anything of this, I say?"

Ralph shook his head.

"It was good luck," he said. "And how should I know anything? Ah, a blind man is but a poor detective."

Yet as Ralph passed to his strange quarters, there was a queer look on his face. The long lean claws were crooked as if they were fastened about the neck of some enemy, some foe to the death.

"The hem of the mystery," he muttered. "Patience and prudence, and the day shall come when I shall have it by the throat, and such a lovely throat, too!"

CHAPTER IV. 101 Brant Street

There was nothing about the house to distinguish it from its stolid and respectable neighbors. It had a dingy face, woodwork painted a dark red with the traditional brass knocker and bell pull. The windows were hung with curtains of the ordinary type, the venetian blinds were half down, which in itself is a sign of middle-class respectability. In the centre of the red door was a small brass plate bearing the name of Dr. Sergius Tchigorsky.

Not that Dr. Tchigorsky was a medical practitioner in the ordinary sense of the word. No neatly appointed "pillbox" ever stood before 101; no patient ever passed the threshold.

Tchigorsky was a savant and a traveller to boot; a man who dealt in strange out-of-the-way things, and the interior of his house would have been a revelation to the top-hatted, frock-coated doctors and lawyers and city men who elected to make their home in Brant street, W.

The house was crammed with curiosities and souvenirs of travel from basement to garret. A large skylighted billiard-room at the back of the house had been turned into a library and laboratory combined.

And here, when not travelling, Tchigorsky spent all his time, seeing strange visitors from time to time, Mongolians, Hindus, natives of Tibet—for Tchigorsky was one of the three men who had penetrated to the holy city of Lassa, and returned to tell the tale.

The doctor came into his study from his breakfast, and stood ruminating, rubbing his hands before the fire. In ordinary circumstances he would have been a fine man of over six feet in height.

But a cruel misfortune had curved his spine, while his left leg dragged almost helplessly behind him. His hands were drawn up as if the muscles had been cut and then knotted up again.

Tchigorsky had entered Lassa five years ago as a god who walks upright. When he reached the frontier six months later he was the wreck he still remained. And of those privations and sufferings Tchigorsky said nothing. But there were times when his eyes gleamed and his breath came short and he pined for the vengeance yet to be his.

As to his face, it was singularly strong and intellectual. Yet it was disfigured with deep seams checkered like a chessboard. We have seen something like it before, for the marks were identical with those that disfigured Ralph Ravenspur and made his face a horror to look upon.

A young man rose from the table where he was making some kind of an experiment. He was a fresh-colored Englishman, George Abell by name, and he esteemed it a privilege to call himself Tchigorsky's secretary.

"Always early and always busy," Tchigorsky said. "Is there anything in the morning papers that is likely to interest me, Abell?"

"I fancy so," Abell replied thoughtfully. "You are interested in the Ravenspur case?"

A lurid light leapt into the Russian's eyes. He seemed to be strangely moved. He paced up and down the room, dragging his maimed limb after him.

"Never more interested in anything in my life," he said. "You know as much of my past as any man, but there are matters, experiences unspeakable. My face, my ruined frame. Whence come these cruel misfortunes? That secret will go down with me to the grave. Of that I could speak to one man alone, and I know not whether that man is alive or dead."

Tchigorsky's words trailed off into a rambling incoherent murmur. He was far away with his own gloomy and painful thoughts. Then he came back to earth with a start. He stood with his back to the fireplace, contemplating Abell.

"I am deeply interested in the Ravenspur case, as you know," he said. "A malignant fiend is at work yonder—a fiend with knowledge absolutely superhuman. You smile! I myself have seen the powers of darkness doing the bidding of mortal man. All the detectives in Europe will never lay hands upon the destroyers of the Ravenspurs. And yet, in certain circumstances, I could."

"Then, in that case, sir, why don't you?"

"Do it? I said in certain circumstances. I have part of a devilish puzzle; the other part is in the hands of a man who may be dead. I hold half of the bank note; somebody else has the other moiety. Until we can come together, we are both paupers. If I can find that other man, and he has the nerve and the pluck he used to possess, the curse of the Ravenspurs will cease. But, then, I shall never see my friend again."

"But you might solve the problem alone."

"Impossible. That man and myself made a most hazardous expedition in search of dreadful knowledge. That formula we found. For the purposes of safety we divided it. And then we were discovered. Of what followed I dare not speak; I dare not even think."

"I escaped from my dire peril, but I cannot hope that my comrade was so fortunate. He must be dead. And, without him, I am as powerless as if I knew nothing. I have no proof. Yet I know quite well who is responsible for those murders at Ravenspur."

Abell stared at his chief in astonishment. He knew Tchigorsky too well to doubt the evidence of his simple word. The Russian was too strong a man to boast.

"You cannot understand," he said. "It is impossible to understand without the inner knowledge that I possess, and even my knowledge is not perfect. Were I to tell the part I know I should be hailed from one end of England to the other as a madman. I should be imprisoned for malignant slander. But if the other man turned up—if only the other man should turn up!"

Tchigorsky broke into a rambling reverie again. When he emerged to mundane once more he ordered Abell to read the paragraph relating to the latest phase of the tragedy of the lost Ravenspur.

"It runs," said Abell. "Another Strange Affair at Ravenspur Castle. The mystery of this remarkable case still thickens. Late on Wednesday night Mr. Rupert Ravenspur, the head of the family, was awakened by a choking sensation and a total loss of breath. On attempting to leave his bed, the unfortunate gentleman found himself unable to move."

"He states that the room appeared to be filled with a fine spray of some

LIGHT DRAFT SEED DRILLS

Made in Canada For Canadian Conditions

Aim to Increase the Average Yield

By Better Cultivation, Better Seed Selection and Rotation of Crops, a Higher Average Yield will be Secured

(From The Banker-Farmer)

That is the most important truth for the American farmer to know and put in practice. He must not be alarmed by the bogey, "the higher the yield, the greater the cost, not only per acre but also per bushel"—which does not apply to a farming condition wherein the farmer has not begun to get the natural yield of an honestly-treated farm.

Our general farming has not reached—and will not reach in our generation—the point where we need to be concerned with this ultimate rule. In twenty-five years perhaps it may be proper to consider it. But not now.

It is a fool thing to try to put brakes on the American farmer today—rather he should be encouraged and spurred, more than ever, to prevent him from falling behind in yield and investment returns. The only thing that has saved the American farmer so far has been increase in crops and land values. It required a campaign of twenty-five years in Germany to raise the average wheat yield 10 bushels an acre.

On higher-priced land, expense eats up an average acre yield. The profit—and the ONLY PROFIT—is in the EXCESS yield above the average.

The easy, rational and inexpensive way to secure a yield above the average is by better seed bed, better seed and better rotation with crop and animal manures.

All in the Seed—Two ears planted the same day, side by side, cultivated the same and under the same climatic conditions—67 bushels more per acre, or at 60 cents per bushel giving a profit of $40.20 more per acre, just because of the seed.—Wisconsin Experiment Station.

sickly, sweet drug or liquid that seemed to act upon him as chloroform does on a subject with a weak heart. Mr. Ravenspur managed to cry out, but the vapor held him down, and was slowly stifling him—

"Ah," Tchigorsky cried, "Ah, I thought so. Go on!"

His eyes were gleaming; his whole face glistered with excitement.

"Provisionally the cry reached the ears of another of the Ravenspurs. This gentleman burst open his father's door, and noticing the peculiar, pungent odour, had the good sense to break a window and admit air into the room."

"This prompt action was the means of saving the life of the victim, and it is all the more remarkable because it was carried out by a Mr. Ralph Ravenspur, a blind gentleman, who had just returned from foreign parts."

Tobacco Habit Easily Conquered

A New Yorker of wide experience has written a book telling how the tobacco or snuff habit may be easily and completely banished in three days with delightful benefit. The author, Edward J. Woods, 280 A, Station E., New York City, will mail his book free on request.

The health improves wonderfully after the nicotine poison is out of the system. Calmness, tranquil sleep, clear eyes, normal appetite, good digestion, manly growth, strong memory, and a general gain in efficiency are among the many benefits reported. Get rid of that nervous feeling; no more need of pipe, cigar, cigarette, snuff or chewing tobacco to pacify morbid desire.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; none come out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Will Not Emulate Germany

The best answer we can give to Germany is not to emulate her lust for blind destruction, however great the provocation, but to press forward our preparations for helping to relieve France and Belgium from the blight which has fallen upon them. When we strike home against Germany we will not soil our hands with these shameful crimes. We will fight honorably, in the assurance that victory will be ours, and that the earth will be purged of these relapses into barbarism.—London Times.

Girl Soldier's Dravery

The incident of the Czar having recently congratulated and approved of the St. George's Cross being conferred upon a girl who had masqueraded as a volunteer and been three times wounded while taking ammunition to the troops at Opatoff and taken prisoner, but subsequently rescued, is almost unique in Russian history. There was a similar instance at the time of Napoleon's invasion in 1813, when a lady landowner, of Kostroma, disguised herself as a hussar, and acted as orderly to Field Marshal Kutuzoff. There was also a case during the Japanese war. Another woman aviator, Mademoiselle Samronova, has been accepted for service at the front.

Beef on the Farm

Money in Live Stock Will Pay Big Dividends to the Farmer

"The time has come," says J. Ogden Armour, "for all concerned—the packer, the farmer, the dealer and the consumer—to give heed to the menace of the growing beef shortage in this country, and to realize that this situation will become more acute instead of improving in years to come."

Force is lent to his warning by the statement that the cattle receipts at the six principal western markets are now the smallest in thirty years. While the population has increased over 26 per cent. since 1900, beef cattle have decreased 20 per cent. Seven years ago there were in the country 51,000,000 head of cattle; now there are only 38,000,000. And yet prices have advanced so that those 38,000,000 are worth $350,000,000 more than the 51,000,000 were worth in 1907.

If this tendency goes much farther, it's evident that the nation must swing pretty far towards a vegetarian diet. If we want the meat that we have been accustomed to, we have got to get busy and adapt cattle raising to changed conditions. As Mr. Armour points out the ranges have been broken up by the withdrawal of public lands for irrigation projects and dry farming. In the future, cattle raising must be less specialized. Herds must be smaller and more widely distributed. Hope of increasing or even maintaining the present per capita beef production seems to depend on the farmers of all sections.

"The farmer must receive every practical encouragement to put the beef cattle on his lands and to conduct his business in such a way that the cattle and agricultural branches will be balanced," says Mr. Armour. Present beef prices ought to be, in themselves, a powerful encouragement for such "balanced farming."—Chronicle, Augusta, Ga.

SICK HEADACHES PERMANENTLY CURED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills
Correct the Cause of This Trouble

There are few ailments that cause more genuine misery in the home than attacks which are generally termed sick headaches. The attacks are often periodical and when the mother of a family is prostrated at intervals there is not only her own suffering to consider, but the discomfort caused the other members of the household. Sick headaches arise from a variety of causes, and most of them can be relieved or cured through the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Huel Docherty, Rockville, Sask., says: "I suffered for years with what the doctors called nervous prostration and sick headache. When these spells came on I could not work nor walk, and the pains in the head were almost unbearable. At times the pain in my head was so dreadful that I feared it would drive me mad. I tried four different doctors at times, and not only took bottles of medicine, but quarts of it, but to no avail. Then I quit taking medicine altogether and tried dieting, but it made no difference. I was still an agonizing sufferer. Finally my husband urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and got me a supply. After taking the Pills for some weeks I felt a little better and I gladly continued their use. My nerves began to feel stronger, the terrible headaches came with less frequency, and after taking the Pills for some months disappeared altogether. From that day to this I have had no return of the trouble, and all who knew of my illness regarded my cure as marvellous. I cannot say too much in praise of the Pills as they certainly saved me from a life of almost constant agony."

It is by building up and enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills work seemingly marvellous cures, and what they have done for others they will do for all ailing people if given a fair trial. If you do not find these Pills at your medicine dealers you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Bright Future For the West

There is no doubt that the west will soon enter upon an era of prosperity again. Its natural resources are enormous—in fact their development was only beginning in real earnest when the boom had reached its height in 1913. The present period of readjustment is paving the way for a resumption of progress that will be steady, natural and permanent. The setback that reckless, grasping speculation has received is anything but a misfortune. The rich lands of the west are intended for the settler and producer, not for the enrichment of the real estate gambler. With the enlargement of the cultivating acreage now assured for the coming season, and the rising prices and increasing demand for foodstuffs, the prospect is that the western provinces will experience decidedly improved financial conditions before the end of the present year.—Sydney Post.

"You admit you are guilty, then," thundered the judge.
"Ah do, judge. Ah's guilty. Ah stole dem pants. But, your Honah, dere aint no sin when de motive am good. Ah stole dem pants to get baptised in."—Harper's Magazine.

Grow More Alfalfa

Increase in Alfalfa, Fodder Corn and Root Production

Figures compiled from Dominion government census returns show a pronounced increase in production of alfalfa, fodder corn, potatoes and root crops in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta during 1914. The two outstanding features of the report on potato, root and fodder crops for 1914, are the increase in acreage of alfalfa and the surprising acreage in fodder corn. In previous years the acreage in fodder corn has been so small that it has not often been noted in the reports. In 1914 the acreage in fodder corn was 15,700, and of this area 13,000 acres were in the province of Manitoba. The average yield per acre was a little over five and a half tons. Increase in alfalfa acreage for the three provinces for the year is very nearly 5,000 acres.

	1914.	1913.
Potatoes	$8,947,000	$5,268,000
Turnips and other roots	3,596,000	3,249,000

Faultless in Preparation.—Unlike any other stomach regulator, Parlee's Vegetable Pills are result of long study of vegetable compounds calculated to stimulate the stomachic functions and maintain them at the normal condition. Years of use have proved their faultless character and established their excellent reputation. And this reputation they have maintained for years and will continue to maintain, for these pills must always stand at the head of the list of standard preparations.

An Efficacious Remedy

A story is told by President Poincaré of an old peasant who was very superstitious. A neighbor said to him one day:

"That potato you gave me to carry in my pocket as a cure for rheumatism has had a wonderful effect. I haven't had a twinge since you gave it to me."

"There!" exclaimed the peasant, triumphantly. "I told you a potato carried in the pockets was a cure for rheumatism, and you wouldn't believe me."

"Yes," the other admitted, "and the really strange thing is that it must have been exercising its influence on me before you gave it me, for I never had a twinge before I began carrying it."

Bullets Meet in Rifle Barrel

A German soldier gives a remarkable account of a peculiar shot:

"From one of the trenches," he says, "I aimed at my adversary. At a distance of about seventy yards the outlines of a cap offered a remarkably good aim."

"I pointed my rifle, and was already sure of success. I was just pulling the trigger. The aim was clear; my bullet could not fail."

"Suddenly I staggered back, and when I recovered I found my rifle damaged at the lock and the chamber. I had a very ugly wound in the forehead."

"I examined my rifle and found in the barrel a French and a German bullet, both flattened. What had happened was this: A French bullet had entered my rifle at the muzzle, had followed the course of the barrel, had caused the explosion of my cartridge and the butt of my rifle, and thus had wounded me."

Russia is twenty times larger than France and Germany put together (8,400,000 square miles), and her population is supposed to number 155,000,000, being 100,000,000 more than that of Germany. Canada's area is 3,729,665 square miles.

STRENGTH

Without Overloading the Stomach

The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not overload the stomach, but give mental vigor for the day.

Much depends on the start a man gets each day as to how he may expect to accomplish the work on hand. He can't be alert with a heavy, fried-meat-and-potatoes breakfast, requiring a lot of vital energy in digesting it.

A Western business man found a food combination for producing energy. He writes:

"For years I was unable to find a breakfast food that had nutrition enough to sustain a business man without overloading his stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ailments."

"Being a very busy and also a very nervous man, I had about decided to give up breakfast altogether. But luckily I was induced to try Grape-Nuts."

"Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and quiet."

"I find that Grape-Nuts, with a little sugar and a small quantity of cold milk, makes a delicious morning meal, which invigorates me for the day's business."

Intensive Cultivation

Its Relation to the Farm and to the Labor Question

The development of a more intensive cultivation must carry with it a much more careful consideration of the labor problem. The difficulty of getting and keeping labor on the farm is a commonplace. I think farmers have not faced the fact that this difficulty is due in the main to their own way of doing their business. Competent men will not stay at farm labor unless it offers them continuous employment as part of a well ordered business concern; and this is not possible unless with a greatly improved husbandry.

Today agriculture has to compete in the labor market against other, and to many men more attractive, industries, and a marked elevation in the whole standard of life in the rural world is the best insurance of a better supply of good farm labor. Only an intensive system of farming can afford any large amount of permanent employment at decent wages to the rural laborer, and only a good supply of competent labor can render intensive farming on any large scale profitable. But the intensive system of farming not only gives regular employment and good wages; it also fits the laborer of today—in a country where a man can strike out for himself—to be the successful farmer of tomorrow. Nor, in these days of impersonal industrial relations, should the fact be overlooked that under an intensive system of agriculture, we find still preserved the kindly personal relation between employer and employee which contributes both to the pleasantness of life and to economic progress and security.—Sir Horace Plunkett in the Rural Life Problem of the United States.

A Remedy For Earache.—To have the earache is to endure torture. The ear is a delicate organ and few care to deal with it, considering it work for a doctor. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil offers a simple remedy. A few drops upon a piece of lint or medicated cotton and placed in the ear will work wonders in relieving pain.

Many children are so crammed with everything that they know nothing. In proof of this, read this specimen definition:

"Anatomy is the human body, which consists of three parts, the head, the chest, and the stomach. The head contains the eyes and brains, if any; the chest contains the lungs and a piece of the liver. The stomach is devoted to the bowels, of which there are five—a, e, i, o, u, and sometimes w and y."

He Could Not Make One Step

THEN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED WALTER J. ROBERTS

Newfoundland Man Finds a Firm Cure After Suffering Ten Months of Torture.—Doctors and Other Medicines Failed to Help Him

Lewisport, Twillingate District, Nfld.—(Special).—A thrilling story of a splendid cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills is told by Walter J. Roberts, a well known resident of this place. "My trouble, started from a cold after measles," Mr. Roberts states. "For nineteen months I was confined to the house, and for ten months I could not make one step."

"I tried many doctors and medicines but got no relief from them. The trouble was in my feet, legs and arms and at times was almost unbearable. I could not feed myself for those ten months."

"At last I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, taking twenty-eight boxes in all, and am glad to say they made a firm cure of me."

Mr. Roberts' troubles were caused by diseased kidneys. That is why Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him. Diseased kidneys fail in their duty of straining the impurities out of the blood and the consequence is trouble all over the body. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure diseased kidneys.

Germany Wants Big Wheat Area

The German government is contemplating the issuance of a decree reducing by one quarter the area previously employed for the raising of sugar beets, so as to increase the production of grain and vegetables.

Sugar manufacturers are raising objections. They contend that sugar is a nourishing food, and that the by-products are valuable for feeding cattle.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; also come out of the ear are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Mail's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. War Horses Turned Green

Effort to Change the Color of White Horses Had Unexpected Result

He was a sturdy little French gunner, and loved his horses as an artilleryman should, but he was a little disgusted when he saw the animal turn green—"as green as an apple"—as he said when he told the story.

White horses are not allowed at the front, as they are too easily seen at a distance, and this is a war in which invisibility is the great thing to achieve. Several attempts have been made since the beginning of hostilities to dye white horses a serviceable shade of brown, but so far with little success. Heavy rain has generally been the chief enemy of such experiments.

The other day twenty-four horses of one battery were dyed with a new stain, and to the delight of officers and men the rain seemed to have no bad effect. But one night the horses had a specially hard bit of work to do. They sweated and lathered freely, and, to the horror of the drivers, they were a bright green when the morning light fell on them.

Something in the stain—the proud inventor keeps its composition secret—had changed its color when mixed with the perspiration of the hard worked horses!

How to Care for Your Complexion

There is no truer saying than that "beauty is only skin deep." Good features lose their charm under a sallow or blotchy skin and poor features are glorified by a beautiful complexion.

A very useful toilet booklet entitled "Your Complexion" has just been issued by Nyal's and contains many helpful health and beauty hints, including proper methods of massage. It can be had for the asking at the Nyal Agency
Drug Store and you should call or telephone for it. Among other things it points out is that diet, sleep, ventilation, and a thousand other things we cannot escape are continually warring against our complexions. Get a 25c or 50c jar of Nyal's Face Cream and convince yourself of its cleansing and refreshing and beautifying qualities. It is greaseless, oxygenated and quickly absorbed by the skin, leaves no shine, and gives a pleasant, smooth, cool sensation, quickly removing the irritation produced by wind and weather.

All Nyal preparations are justly famous and none more so than Nyal's Face Cream which we unhesitatingly recommend. Call or telephone us for your copy of this book which contains most valuable information.
